Rod Blum Launches Campaign Web Site for Iowa's First Congressional District

Rod Blum, who last week announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination to Congress from Iowa's First Congressional District, today launched his campaign web site at www.rodblum.com.

The web site features biographical information, as well as position statements on several major issues, a selection of opinion columns he has written for the Dubuque Telegraph Herald the past 10 years, and some of the news clippings that Blum's campaign has generated since he announced his candidacy.

Blum's web site offers visitors the opportunity to sign up for campaign updates, make contributions, different ways to get involved in the campaign and how to contact the candidate.

The web site also offers visitors a chance to read the inspirational story about Blum written by the Dubuque Telegraph Herald. The article suggests "Life imitates art when the Blum family in Dubuque Iowa took into their family a 19 year old orphan from the south side of Chicago. The coincidences with the award winning movie "The Blind Side" are uncanny. Enjoy this heart warming story. " Just click on the link in the menu bar labeled as "The Rebound."

Blum encourages people to give him their feedback on the web site, and suggestions on how he might make it better, or better address the issues facing Iowans as we approach this 2012 election that is critical to the future of this nation.
